This training includes:

- Developing powerful parenting skills to:
 - Engage your children
 - Work through ambivalence
 - Create stronger connections with your children
 - Work through Tough Conversations
- Opportunities to discuss specific Fatherhood issues you face
- Learn how to use MI-Lead skills as a successful parenting tool

Motivational Parent, which uses MI-Lead techniques and strategies, has a number of key concepts that when adapted in an effective way can have significant and profound impacts in raising children. The adapted skills can help reduce or extinguish the parenting trap in engaging in power struggles and arguments, help guide children to identify solutions for problems in their lives while taking ownership of their choices, help build strong relationships of trust and compassion, help children develop a sense of responsibility, and give parents a sense of security and calm when working with their kids. This training focuses on fatherhood and how to utilize these skills for dads.

What People Are Saying:

“Learning to listen with lots of affirmation and reflection instead of advising has brought my kids and I closer together. My two sons and I are closer than ever. They just love to talk now. Oh how I wish I had these skills when they were younger, we would have enjoyed those years much more!” -- Terri C.
