Facilitated by

Carla Charraga

This program is a flexible parenting education curriculum tailored to the specific needs of families with children from prenatal to 19 years old. It is a family-centered, trauma-informed class designed to help families build stronger bonds, improve communication, and create a more nurturing environment by teaching positive parenting skills and fostering healthy development in both parents and children. We invite you to join us — no cost to participants.

Carla Charraga earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from UC Berkeley and is a certified Anger Replacement Therapy (ART) Facilitator. She is fluent in Spanish and English, and is currently Executive Director at Siskiyou Domestic Violence and Crisis Center.
